NHS Innovation Challenge Prize Expert Panel

We see new ideas in healthcare every day – but if you're the kind of person who can recognise real potential when you see it, this is your opportunity to shape our future.

With a focus on developing a true innovation culture within the NHS, the Department of Health has established an exciting Challenge prize fund of £20m. Prizes are to be awarded to those in the NHS, and others, who can demonstrate that they have innovations that respond to key health and social care challenges, and provide real benefit to NHS patients.

It means that right now, we're looking for experienced innovators, NHS managers and staff, entrepreneurs, industry-leaders, and forward thinkers to join our high profile judging panel and help set the challenges that have the potential to transform the provision of health services.
